Barry Debrow, Jr. works to make sure that your constitutional rights are protected. The legal system can be daunting for those who are entangled within it.

With Barry Debrow on your side, you won't have to resolve your legal challenges alone. For over ten years, Barry has stood by his clients in federal and state courts, from arrest and, when necessary, through trial. In every case, Barry expertly achieves the most favorable outcome possible for his client.

As a litigator, Barry strives to keep your costs low and results high. Barry objectively evaluates the strengths and weaknesses of each case and advises his clients of the best approach toward a favorable resolution. When the probable outcome isn't in the client's best interest, he will not hesitate to advise against proceeding to trial. But whether you proceed to trial or not, with Barry, you know you will have a fierce advocate on your side.

As a counselor, Barry keeps focus on your end-goal in sight and advises you in how to best get there. In many respects, having a good attorney is like having a good GPS - to get from one point to another, Barry advises his clients in which direction they should go, gives caution to any roadblocks along the way, and recalculates the route at any missed turn. Whether in negotiations or consultations, having Barry involved early and often ensures a successful journey and outcome.
