Alexis Herring is an experienced civil litigator, primarily as defense counsel representing various companies early in her career. Alexis advocates for her clients' interests with precision and passion. She has handled all phases of litigation, through and including trial.

Before joining our team, Alexis distinguished herself at a prominent mid-size firm in Atlanta, handling employment and workers' compensation matters. She has also successfully defended health-care providers and major hospitals against malpractice claims, earning a reputation for her tenacity and strategic legal approach.

Alexis is deeply committed to her clients, viewing each case as an opportunity to provide unwavering support and achieve optimal outcomes. At our firm, Alexis Herring continues to uphold the highest standards of legal excellence, remaining a steadfast advocate for justice dedicated to achieving favorable results for those she serves.
